As a family business with strong roots in Tyrol, SWAROVSKI OPTIK considers it its duty to protect the environment, preserve nature, and conserve biodiversity. For over 75 years, we have been inspired by our love of nature. It is important to us to inspire people to love nature and encourage them to treat it with respect and consideration – whether hunting, birdwatching, or enjoying other outdoor activities.

Hunting, together with forestry and agriculture, protects and preserves our cultural landscape in its original form for future generations. That is why it is important to maintain natural habitats and manage them sustainably.

For SWAROVSKI OPTIK, hunting in the Alpine tradition is an important task that makes a valuable contribution to the ecological balance in the hunting grounds. These principles also guide the management of the approximately 10,000-hectare SWAROVSKI OPTIK Jagd Hinterau hunting grounds, which extend across areas belonging to the Austrian Federal Forestry Office and the municipality of Scharnitz.

The Hubertus hunting lodge is located in the heart of the hunting grounds: a beautiful gem that is ideal for finding peace and quiet, enjoying nature, or exploring the Hinterau Valley. Nestled in the unspoiled mountain landscape of the Tyrolean Hinterau Valley, guests can expect a combination of high-quality hunting culture, comfortable accommodation, and breathtaking Alpine scenery—an experience that will remain unforgettable, both in terms of hunting and emotion.

REGION: HINTERAUTAL & NATURPARK KARWENDEL

HINTERAUTAL & NATURPARK KARWENDEL

The Hinterau Valley is one of the most impressive high mountain valleys in Tyrol and lies in the heart of the Karwendel Nature Park. This region is characterized by unspoiled nature, crystal-clear mountain streams, and species-rich flora and fauna. The Isar, one of the most famous rivers in the Alps, has its source directly in the hunting area.

In addition to the Hubertus hunting lodge, there are other accommodation options in the surrounding area, including cozy mountain huts, guesthouses, and hotels in Scharnitz and the surrounding area. These are ideal for guests who want to experience the hunting grounds as part of a longer stay in Tyrol.
