Red Stag Hunt in Bulgaria 2024
District: Cherni Lom

Hunting area

In the north-east of Bulgaria, around the town of Popovo, lies one of the most famous red deer areas in this interesting hunting country, the Cherni Lom hunting ground. It is located around 300 kilometres from the capital Sofia and around 200 kilometres from Varna airport. The huntable area is a good 130,000 ha, of which 28,469 ha are closed forests. The terrain of the hunting ground ranges from flat to hilly with an altitude of 200 to around 400 metres above sea level. As only a few hunters can be accommodated each year, the hunting pressure is very low. This is important for such an excellent big game hunting ground, as game is known to love peace and quiet above all else. In this huge hunting ground, there are plenty of resting areas and hideouts that are only visited by the local professional hunters.

Game species:

The main game species in Cherni Lom is red deer. The people in charge on site are particularly keen to look after red deer. And you immediately realise that they are experts. The hunting ground makes a very well-kept impression and if you take the time to study the track reports from previous years, you will be surprised at how strong the stags can become in this hunting ground. In general, the mature stags reach an antler weight of between 9 kg and 11 kg. Stags weighing 12 kg or more are also taken every year. These deer are categorised as the 'Carpathian type'. Typical antlers are characterised by long poles, massive main poles with a huge circumference but few ends. During the rut in the second half of September, you can experience a natural spectacle that is second to none. The sound of the stags' cries is a tremendous experience. All our guests are guided only by specially trained stalking guides on the capital deer of Bulgaria.

Accommodation:

During your stay you will stay in the well-equipped hunting lodge 'Momino' in the hunting ground. You will certainly feel at home there. Every year, Cherni Lom only accepts a small number of hunters for the rut, as it is important to maintain the quality of these hunts. Not only in terms of the quality of the antlers, but also in terms of the service and overall support from your arrival in Bulgaria to your flight home. Secure your place in good time.
